

Key features and benefits of the 2011 All Blacks jersey

- Tubular design – the main body of the jersey has been knitted as a tube to reduce the number of seams
- Bonded Seams – the seams that remain have been bonded, not knitted, to increase strength and durability
- ClimaCool® inserts – are engineered directly into the tube in the heat zone areas to allow for better evaporation and moisture management
- Fit – the tube has been knitted in a contour to fit the body. The tube has been augmented to fit the player like no other tube construction before
- Strong and light – the strength of the 2009 jersey is maintained but the weight is halved to make the all blacks faster
