Forum Lo

This month, adidas Originals presents four new takes on the iconic Forum Lo basketball silhouette for men and women.

Turning heads back to the Forum Lo's original 1984 release, two men's iterations assume a classic white leather construction with contrast 3-Stripe mark in navy and burgundy, respectively. Finishing touches include the shoe's essential forefoot velcro strap, and trefoil branding on the lateral ankle and midsole, while a classic gum outsole rounds off each shoe's nostalgic color palette.

The women's offer then takes a more fashion-forward approach to the silhouette, switching out the classic leather on the shoe's rear panels for a premium snakeskin leather, countered with a crisp white tooling. Offered in classic white and black colorways, the result is a perfect complement to the men's referential offer, a release where classic truly meets contemporary.
