EQT Bask ADV and EQT Racing ADV W

This season, adidas Originals presents an EQT release that really takes the iconic '90s line, translating the series' distinctive design language into a new high-top basketball context creating the EQT BBall silhouette.

Featuring a sculpted look inspired by the inner-boot design of old-school basketball models, the EQT BBall is constructed from a knitted mesh, with structural suede. Molded TPU panels around the heel and forefoot add extra support, whilst classic EQT elements such as integrated 3-stripe mark, 3-stripe midsole details and heel embroidery in essential EQT Green reiterate the shoe's EQT connections. The result is a release that puts one of adidas' most celebrated franchises in a whole new frame.

Additionally, the the EQT Racing ADV silhouette, steps out in an updated women's-exclusive color treatment this month with a soft blue and grey color palette creating a lighter iteration of the monochromatic version released earlier this year.

Inspired and informed by the original EQT Racing silhouette, the EQT Racing ADV combines a stretch-knit upper with the OG's unique webbing tape lacing system and asymmetrical tongue for ease of entry, superior fit and comfort. This is placed atop a classic EVA midsole with EQT sneaker's signature integrated 3-stripe mark for a perfect combination of classic and contemporary. Assuming a tonal blue tint colorway with flashes of black and grey upon the pure white heel, the result is a softly-spoken iteration of one of EQT sneaker's most fascinating silhouettes, releasing exclusively for women.
