Deerupt

adidas Originals' Deerupt silhouette makes a strong appearance this week as the 3-stripes trademark presents new colorways of the deconstructed running model. Following the original Deerupt blueprint, each iteration demonstrates the understated versatility of the shoe's design.

Each shoe in the release features a sock-fit reversed mesh construction, while a distinctive stretchable mesh overlay provides compression for a comfortable fit. This carries across to the midsole, finished with a classic rubber outsole. A minimalist lacing system and trefoil logo-branded suede heel patch completes the picture, creating a seamless blend of classic design and progressive tech perspectives.

Releasing on April 27 for 99.95€ in seven colorways, the latest release marks the most comprehensive outing for the Deerupt yet, establishing the shoe as the latest weapon in adidas Originals' arsenal of referential, revolutionary footwear silhouettes.
