

For Myanmar's farmers, New Holland's TT4.75 tractor makes even the hardest tasks easier

Yangon, 20th August 2018

New Holland tractors can be seen in many plantations across Myanmar, working hard in land preparation, haulage, and general plantation maintenance. For all of these tasks, New Holland's TT4 Series tractors are a popular choice. The TT4 has earned the trust of farmers throughout Myanmar thanks to its combination of robustness, reliability, ease of maintenance, and productivity. The TT4 is a small package which delivers big performance, even in the most challenging conditions.

One of Myanmar's many satisfied users of the TT4 tractor is Mr. U Aung Hla, from Thone Eain village in Mandalay Region. Mr. U Aung Hla recently moved into the agricultural business and chose New Holland Agriculture as his preferred agricultural equipment supplier because of the brand's reputation for world-class products and excellent customer support. Mr. U Aung Hla uses two New Holland TT4.75 tractor units for a wide variety of tasks on his 50-acre plantation, which serves the surrounding districts of Patheingyi and Myingyi.

"I love to drive my New Holland tractors," says Mr. U Aung Hla. "Spending long hours in the field is easy with these machines - they ensure that I can work in comfort and stay alert for the job at hand. These tractors are excellent on dry fields and in paddy fields. What I like the most are the hydraulic features and their lifting capacity".

New Holland works closely with its authorised distributor in Myanmar, Yangon-based CPCL, which has 16 branches throughout the country. Mr. U Aung Hla said: "The CPCL team has provided premium support and advice in every phase of my job since I started. Their service team is very helpful and friendly and reacts quickly to every request or question I have. They have always provided excellent uptime support whenever it has been needed in my daily tasks. New Holland certainly makes my job easier."
