FIDELITY® LAUNCHES SIX THEMATIC ETFs WITH INNOVATIVE DISRUPTIVE STRATEGIES

Fidelity's Expanding Active Equity ETF Lineup now includes 15 ETFs and more than $1 billion in assets

BOSTON, June 12, 2023 -- Fidelity Investments® announced the launch of six new disruptive ETFs. Fidelity® Disruptive Automation ETF (FBOT), Fidelity® Disruptive Communications ETF (FDCE), Fidelity® Disruptive Finance ETF (FDFF), Fidelity® Disruptive Medicine ETF (FMED), and Fidelity® Disruptive Technology ETF (FDTX) are trading on Nasdaq and available immediately commission-free for individual investors and financial advisors through Fidelity's online brokerage platforms. Fidelity® Disruptors ETF (FDIF), a fund of funds which will invest in a combination of these five Fidelity ETFs, will be available on June 20, 2023.

The new ETFs will be among the most competitively priced active thematic strategies in the industry with a total expense ratio of 0.50%.

"The launch of these innovative, disruptive ETFs represents a significant milestone for Fidelity. We're building on our history of active management to grow our comprehensive lineup of active ETFs," said Greg Friedman, Fidelity's Head of ETF Management and Strategy. "We continue to see demand for thematic strategies as well as active ETFs to help meet investors' evolving needs and their distinct financial goals."

In November 2022, Fidelity announced its plan to convert the disruptive fund suite into ETFs, which was first launched in April 2020. Each new transparent ETF maintains the same investment objectives and will be managed in the same manner as its former mutual fund counterpart. Fidelity's disruptive strategies are designed to invest in innovative business models, emerging industries, and technologies that are changing the status quo, including those that are building out capabilities for artificial intelligence, autonomous driving, and next generation digital infrastructure among others.

Keep in mind that investing involves risk. The value of your investment will fluctuate over time, and you may gain or lose money.

Stock markets, especially foreign markets, are volatile and can decline significantly in response to adverse issuer, political, regulatory, market, or economic developments. Foreign securities are subject to interest rate, currency exchange rate, economic, and political risks, all of which are magnified in emerging markets. The risks associated with the securities of companies that represent a disruptive theme include small or limited markets for such securities, changes in business cycles, world economic growth, technological progress, rapid obsolescence, and government regulation. The securities of companies that rely heavily on technology tend to be more volatile and rapid changes to technologies affecting a company's products may adversely affect such company's results. The funds may have additional volatility because of their narrow concentration in specific industries and the companies within their disruptive themes. Non-diversified funds that focus on a relatively small number of stocks tend to be more volatile than diversified funds and the market as a whole.

ETFs are subject to market fluctuation and the risks of their underlying investments. ETFs are subject to management fees and other expenses.
