THE PENINSULA NEW YORK DEBUTS NEWLY REFURBISHED PENINSULA SUITE

The hotel's 3,300 sq ft premier suite receives a glamorous makeover complete with leading-edge Peninsula proprietary guest room technology

The Peninsula New York unveils its crown jewel with the debut of the newly renovated Peninsula Suite, the hotel's premier accommodation with 3,300 sq ft (307 sq m) of luxurious living space. Occupying the majority of the 19th floor, the suite features stunning cityscape views of Fifth Avenue and comprises six rooms, including a spacious master bedroom and bath, breathtaking dining room with adjoining kitchen, elegant living room, study and second bedroom.

Designed by New York-based designer Bill Rooney, the Peninsula Suite possesses the feeling of a grand New York residence with an ensemble of furnishings and finishes curated to create a cohesive, fresh and confident style. Rich woods, polished marble floors, hand-tufted carpets and distinctive sophisticated plaster details define a space that showcases the suite's fine furnishings, art, a grand piano, and the upgraded Peninsula in-room technology.

Upon entering the suite, guests are welcomed through the gallery, a long foyer that features Brazilian cherry wood flooring and Murano glass chandeliers. Stepping through the gallery, guests are guided into the spacious living room, the focal point of the suite. The living room exudes both comfort and elegance with art deco-inspired details with modern underpinnings and a baby grand piano. A palette of deep gold tones and calming creams play nicely off the wall-to-wall French marble flooring and Italian silk Champagne-colored drapery elegantly, framing the oversized windows and striking city views. Hand-crafted metal lamps from the renowned French lighting house, Maison Charles, designed specifically for the suite lend a pleasing soft lighting element. The living room also features a sculpture by Connecticut-based artist Rain Kiernan, which was gracefully crafted from white marble with feminine lines and form. The south wall of the living room provides the optimal entertainment experience, with an 80-inch LCD television including unlimited HD movies-on-demand, premium cable channels and a Blu-ray 3D player.

A custom built wall created from Bresche marble and Macassar wood paneling encases the television and a working bio-fuel fireplace. Peninsula in-room technology is also integrated into the living room, featuring automated drapery, lighting and temperature controls at the touch of a button.

Adjacent to the living room, the library functions as both an office and an alternate entertainment space. Ideal for the busy executive, a luxuriously large desk crafted from chrome and mahogany offers a dedicated multi-functional printer, scanner and fax machine. An intimate sitting area faces a 55-inch LED television that is equipped with the latest in gaming technology including Wii and Playstation, and sure to please avid gamers of all ages. The wet bar, designed with chrome and wood finishes, is stocked with complimentary premium liquors and beverages, perfect for entertaining guests.

The large master bedroom provides a soothing retreat from the city, with décor that includes neutral tones and touches of pewter and celadon. Silk draperies also function as blackout shades, ideal for aiding overseas travelers with their sleep. An elegant vanity area flanks the east side of the room, while a small seating area adjacent to the oversized window provides a perfect perch for taking in the city views.

A restful night's sleep is guaranteed with the addition of a king size Savoir bed. Savoir, the leader in bespoke quality beds for over a century and hand-crafted in London, takes more than 80 hours to create each bed utilizing only natural, breathable fabrics including wool and horse hair which help regulate the body temperature all year round and improve the quality of REM sleep. A selection of luxury linens, duvets and a pillow menu allow for a truly customized sleep experience.

The Peninsula's proprietary in-room technology is present in the bedroom's bedside control panels, where guests may control all features of the suite including the draperies, lighting, and temperature. The master bedroom includes a large dressing area designed with basalt black marble and Macassar wood paneling. His and hers closets thoughtfully integrate a luggage bench, and roomy drawers for storing delicate items. The master bath features a large window

The dining chairs are covered in supple poppy red leather with coordinating silk draperies. Adjacent to the dining room is the butler's kitchen, complete with a Sub-Zero refrigerator, stove top and microwave.
