Signore e Signori buonasera

It gives me great pleasure to present the Lamborghini Gallardo LP560-4.

With 13,000 cars delivered worldwide, the Gallardo is the most successful model in our company's history.

We have developed a clear model strategy for the life-cycle of the Gallardo which you can see here this evening

Alongside the classic all-wheel drive Gallardo there is a rear-wheel drive version, the LP550-2 (on the right) and a lightweight version, the LP570-4 Superleggera (on the left).

All three are available as Coupé and Spyder models. Technically speaking, the three cars are different from each other, and this is clearly expressed in terms of performance levels and driving experience.

To date, there has also been a clear differentiation in terms of design between the Superleggera and the two versions with all-wheel and rear-wheel drive.

The new Gallardo LP560-4 that we see here today illustrates further the design differences with its four-wheel and rear-wheel drive sisters.

So ladies and gentlemen, that is our answer to the question of how it is possible to express and experience a different type of performance in a luxury super sports car.
