

Automobili Lamborghini opens the company vaccination centre

All employees vaccinated in three days

Sant'Agata Bolognese, June 23, 2021 - Automobili Lamborghini has officially inaugurated its vaccination hub at its Sant'Agata Bolognese headquarters. In agreement with the relevant national and regional institutions, the company has launched a vaccination campaign starting today, Wednesday, June 23, that will include all its employees.

The administration of the first dose of the vaccine, on a voluntary basis, will be completed in just three days. The vaccinations will be administered by professional health personnel following the instructions issued by the Ministry of Health. This action, which Lamborghini hopes will support the fight against the spread of COVID-19, demonstrates once again the company's commitment to its people.

Stephan Winkelmann, President and CEO of Automobili Lamborghini, stated: "The decision to set up our headquarters as a vaccination point for our employees aims to support the country in the fight against the spread of COVID-19 and alleviate the pressure on vaccination efforts in Italy. This action gives continuity to the extraordinary work done since the beginning of the pandemic by our Joint COVID Committee, established from the beginning to ensure the maximum safety and health of our people, who are our top priority. Lamborghini is once again supporting the institutions and the Emilia-Romagna Region in their health and safety policies."
