

2021: a year of accolades for Lamborghini super sports cars
Awards doubled since 2019: Urus and Huracán STO the most honored

Sant'Agata Bolognese, February 21, 2022 -Lamborghini super sports cars have added to their collection of international awards, with Urus¹ and Huracán STO² among the most honored. It was one of the best years ever for the House of Sant'Agata Bolognese, with double the number of awards received compared to the previous two years.

The Sián³, Automobili Lamborghini's first hybrid super sports car, also attracted worldwide attention when it was named during the Electric Awards of Top Gear magazine (UK) as the Electric Car of the Year as chosen by journalist Chris Harris.

The Urus Super SUV confirmed its leading position among all the Lamborghini models, awarded for the second consecutive year by readers of the prestigious German magazine Auto Motor und Sport as Best Car in the Large SUV category (imported car category), and as Best SUV in the imported car category by the German magazine Sport Auto. It was also recognized by OFF ROAD (DE), which designated it the OFF ROAD AWARD in the Luxury SUV category.

Automobili Lamborghini's V10 range has also enjoyed widespread success. The Huracán STO was awarded twice by Motorsport Magazine (FR) as Sports Car of the Year and as Best Engine 2021. The STO's track vocation was confirmed by the CarBuzz website (USA), which designated it the 2021 Track Weapon. The Huracán EVO⁴ also won high acclaim. The RWD⁵ version was awarded by the prestigious Robb Report (USA) as Sports Car of the Year 2021;and as the Best Convertible for 2021 by Robb Report Singapore as part of the Best of the Best competition; and by CarandBike magazine (IN) as Sports Car of the Year.
