The evoPOWER 1 FG is the new performance boot designed to enhance a player's natural kicking ability, and optimise the power and accuracy when striking the ball. Inspired by the freedom of movement of barefoot kicking, evoPOWER features the most advanced PUMA technologies to date and will be worn on pitch by Cesc Fàbregas, Mario Balotelli, Marco Reus, Yaya Touré, Nemanja Vidić and many other top players.

The new boot features an innovative backbone in the sole plate that allows the boot to bend both ways, enabling the boot's movement to be as close as possible to the biomechanics of the bare foot and replicate its natural power. This is further enhanced through a special upper that only stretches vertically. Control and accuracy are improved through a foam insert located on the vamp which, upon impact, creates a smooth and flat kicking surface.
